Personal Statement

I am a hard-working individual with an exceptional work ethic who is extremely committed, focused and responsible. I enjoy working effectively as an individual and also a team member. I have excellent time management skills and I am highly organized. Although I have vast knowledge in the trades industry, In- between employment, I have undertaken small casual roles that have contributed towards skills and experience in a wider range of environments and I am eager to broaden my professional horizons.

Currently working the 2023 Census

This is a temporary educational role where my main role has been assisting elderly in residential care homes by ensuring they understand the importance of the Census. This involves certain organization skills and patience to ensure all residents, of all capabilities are able to understand and complete the relevant forms.

Using the technology provided to update workloads and ensuring the information we have is correct.

Events, such as setting up our stand and connecting with the wider community at Artbeat 2023.

Co-coordinating a team of 10 at the Whangarei Hospital to enable 450 patients who will be staying On Census night.
